THE PROHIBTION OF MILITARY MARCHING ACROSS THE NIAGARA FOOT-BRIDGE.

FEARS THAT THE COMBINED TREAD WOULD PRECIPITATE THE STRUCTURE INTO THE RIVER.

"ACTION AND REACTION ARE EQUAL," BUT UNITED REACTION IS GREATER.

> SOME PROOF OF THIS, AND HOW IT IS CAUSED.

Above the suspension foot-bridge which spans the Nisgara river below the falls has been placed an iron-plate notice forbidding any military or other body of individuals marching across the structure. The bridge is strong enough to carry all who may The bridge is from chough to carry all who may crowd upon it, but the combined power of united steps would sway the elegant wire causeway from its moorings and precipitate it into the river. This illustrates the wonderful power of united and harmonious action, true in the physical world as well as in the material. Combined powers will destroy monious action, true in the physical world as well as in the material. Combined powers will destroy, while united and harmonious action will successfully resist. To illustrate: If such important parts of the body as the liver and kidners are in harmonious working order, health is almost certain to be the result. These two organs constitute the workshop of the system. The refining, purifying, and itselinguaring labor is done by them, and when they harmonize the unhappiness of disease rarely comes. Unfortunately, they do not commonly work in unison, and, as when either the positive or negative pole of the electric battery is deranged the current craves, so when either the fliver or kidneys are out of order the march of disease is sure to weaken the structure.

The question naturally arises. How is this to be avoided? The answer is simple. By keeping both fliver and kidneys in perfect order. There have been thousands of temedies for the assistance of the liver and very many for the kidneys, but only recently has any scientific compound been found which will certainly regulate, relieve, and keep in harmony both of these great bodity organs. Warner's safe kidney and liver Cure does this infallibly. It furnishes the food which the kidneys and liver require just as meal involves the material for making blood. Not only this, but it aces as a tonic to the entire system, and drives away the lasting to day who, after hope was nearly gone, have had their health restored by this great modern remedy, and there are thousands of others who are keeping tack disease by using it freely. Life is the most preclous thing in all the world, and health is next. To preserve both is matking's greatest aim, and there is nothing which more effectually does it than Warner's safe Kidney and Liver Cure: indorsed by the press, by scientist, and by the people, and for sale by dreggists in all parts of the world. It is the embediment of united action.

The Cincinnati Festival. PERFORMANCE OF THE PRIZE COMPOSITION-

"SCENES FROM LONGFELLOW'S GOLDEN LEGEND," BY DUDLEY BUCK. CINCINNATI, May 20.-For the third evening concert of the festival which has almost turned this city topsy-turvy, two important works were given-Dudley Buck's symphonic cantata, "Scenes from Longfel-low": Golden Legend," for solos, chorus, and orchestra; and the third act of Wagner's "Gotterdämmerung." The overture to "King Lear," by Berlioz was also performed at this concert. In the selection from Wagner's tetralogy, which, it will be remembered, was performed in New York at the last concert of the New York and Brooklyn Philharmonic Societies, the parts of the three Rhine Daughters were taken by Miss Amy Sher-win, Miss Annie B. Norton, and Miss Cranch, that of Siegfried by Signor Campa-nini, Hagen by Mr. J. F. Rudolphsen, and Gunther by Mr. Myron W. Whitney. Artistically the performance was in every respect excellent; but it did not meet with the popular success which has attended some of the other great works, and notably the cantata of Mr. Dudley Buck, the composition which gains the prize of $1,000 offered by the Festival Association, and which from among twenty-five works sent in was selected by the Board of Judges—Messrs. Theodore Thomas, Otto Singer, Dr. Leopold Damrosch, Mr. Asger Hamerik, and Mr. Carl Zerrahn. Throughout the performance the which acts gently, though effectively, promotes di-ges ion and appetite, induces active circulation of the blood, arouses the dormant liver, and benefits the whole internal organism. A dose is instantane-custy prepared, and the article is refreshing and portable. Prove the truth of this by using it.

Panh. Infougnout the performance the enthusiasm of the audience was tremen-dous, the soloists—Miss Norton, Mr. Ru-dolphsen, Mr. Fred. Harvey (who has be-come a great favorite), and Mr. Whitney (whose singing of Friar Paul's drinking song. "Hail Thou Vintage, Clear and Paul's "West and Paul's propagation. LOCAL MATTERS.

A DELIGHTFUL RAIN-THE CROPS .- About noon Saturday the long-wished-for rain commenced falling, at first in such small drops as to cause serious misgivings as to whether we should be visited by a shower or not. Fortunately, however, the rain increased in volume. Soon it began to descend steadily and in torrents. The rain continued more or less all the evening and after nightfall, and at this writing—nearly LATION OF ALL THE OTHER DAILY NEWSmidnight-it is falling alike on the just and the unjust. The good effects of this timely visitation cannot well be calculated. Every one felt refreshed thereby. The long-parched earth was made cool, the dusty streets cleansed, and the stifling air purified. The gardens and flower-yards, which but yesterday were withered and faded, will yesterday were withered and latee, with now take a new lease of life and bloom and blossom as in the early days of spring. It is to be hoped that the rain was gene-ral and not local, and that the farmers in the country have enjoyed at least a portion of its blessings.

The reports which, from most authentic ources, reached the city the past few days from the large tobacco-growing sections of the State were in every way discouraging. Even the most hopeful of those engaged in the trade admit that the situation is a serious one. It may be that this opportune rain will have a beneficial effect upon the growing crops, and the great damage done by the protracted drought be in a measure repaired. At all events there is every reason for congratulation, and for the plenteous shower vouchsafed us on Saturday all hearts should be devoutly grateful.

PERSONAL-BRIEF ITEMS .- We are requested by his son, Irving L. Beveridge, to say that Mr. J. W. Beveridge is absent from the city, and thinks that be has given no one authority to announce him as a candidate for the Council.

The Baltimore Base-Ball Club, with one of the strongest nines in the country, are expected in this city early in June, and will play the Richmond Club.

The Land league.

ADDRESS OF THE RICHMOND LAND LEAGUE TO CITIZENS OF IRISH BUTH AND DESCENT.

At the last regular neeting of the Land League the undersigned officers were instructed to issue an address to the citizens of Richmond of Irish birth and descent, and to all others who may be in sympathy with a nation whose people are suffering a great calamity. The address has follows:

The human mind cannot conjure up anything more bideous than the inhabitants of a country dying for the want of food in the midst of plenty. We venture to say that an analogy of the condition of Ireland at the present time cannot be bund in the history of any other nation; and, knowing as we do the love of lifesty, of instice and fair play that permeates through the breast of every honest and upright citizen of Richmond, we feel that they will not misfudge our motives nor misconstrue our judge our motives nor miscoistrue our acts when we submit to them tie sim and object of the Richmond Land Leigne. deem it unnecessary to enter into the details of the terrible suffering now prevailing in that beautiful but infortunate island, as a recital of them would only make the heart sick and humanity shud-der. Ireland is like unto a beggar on der. Ireland is like unto a beggar on bended knees, with outstretched hands supplicating aid from every nation. Those who compose the League have no destre that the knd of their birth and that of their ancesters should be like a cringing mendicant. Our object is to endeavor to prevent this and place the responsibility of her wretched condition on the shoulders of those to whom it be-contempt of the Christian world. Mr. James Redpath, the correspondent of the New York Tribune, who has returned from a visit to the land that was the beacon-light of Europe as far back as the fourth century of the Christin era, says: "On the seacoast people are enting the black seaweed to keep from strving. " "I have heard so much and I have seen so much of the sorrows of the west of Ireland that when the memory of them rises before me I stand appalled at the vision, and in the silence of my chamber I have wept in the endeavor to describe it. If in the endeavor to describe it. If I could put the picture into words I could not utter the words. I must call witnesses less sensitive." We cannot bring ourselves to the task of depicting those horrible but nevertheless too true scenes of which Mr. Redpath was an eye-witness. Mr. Redpath asks: "What is the duty of the friends of Ireland?" and his answer ought to find an echo through-out the world. He says: "First, to feed the people who are starving, and after that to help them to improve their condition."

This is just what the Land League propose to do. Our object is to aid our suffering kindred morally and financially, and ask the cooperation of every friend of the op-pressed, regardless of creed or nationality, to come forward and lend a belping hand.

"All things, therefore, that ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also unto them." We venture to assert that never was a more humane task undertaken by men than that which the Land League have resolved to accomplish-viz., to save the rack-rented peasantry of Ireland from death brought on by starvation, and to take measures to prevent a recurrence of those artificial famines. It is a well-known fact that there is an abundance of food produced on the farms of Ireland, but it has to be sold to pay the exorbitant rents to be spent in the gambling dens of Baden-Baden and
